MERIT SEMI-FINALIST ANNOUNCED

Ken Garrett, a senior academic student, has been named a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. This is the first step in the 8th annual merit program which can lead to scholarships if other tests are successfully completed.

The semi-finalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and the territories of the United States.

The selection score is the sum of standard scores for the five sub-tests of the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test and is used by N. M. S. C. to determine eligibility.

Ken placed among the top forty-three students who took the test in Pennsylvania, while two other Sun Valley students, Donna Pidcock and John Haldeman, will be given letters of commendation for their scores, which were not quite high enough to qualify them as semi-finalists.

THE PRINCIPAL SPEAKS

The students of Sun Valley are facing a most difficult year. Double sessions as we are experiencing them will not be easy, and they most certainly will present obstacles. It is important that as we live with this situation each day, we remember that all accomplishments worth achieving are those that are attained despite the obstacles along the path.

To overcome obstacles takes a particular kind of courage. You know that courage comes in many forms. We seem to be most familiar with the qualities of courage displayed on the battlefields, but there are other forms of courage - courage to do the right thing, to tell the truth, to act in our personal lives according to our sincere convictions. Very often, it is more difficult to muster this kind of courage. Are you willing and able to muster this kind of courage?

This can be a successful year, if you want it to be. The student body holds one of the keys to a successful school. It is you! Do you want a tremendous school year filled with those activities which are an essential part of your youth? If the answer is yes, then direct yourself toward that end. For no one is interested in the storms that we encounter, but only in our ability to steer the ship safely to shore.

This is your challenge, Vanguards - accept it! Accomplish it!

YEARBOOK HOLDS KICKOFF DANCE

The staff of Sun Valley's yearbook, The Spectrum, held their Kickoff Dance the evening of Friday, September 21, from 8:00 till 11:00 P.M. All profits from the dance are being used to help defray the cost of putting out Sun Valley's first yearbook.

MESSAGE FROM PRINCIPAL PETE DONAGHY:

The New Year has started with a flurry of activity but minimal flurries in the forecast. Sun Valley is pleased to have hosted in the past month: Delaware County Hi-Q Academic Competition Tournament versus Monsignor Bonner, and Garnet Valley on 1/10/12, The Inaugural Sun Valley Debate Tournament of the Pennsylvania High School Speech League on 1/19/12, Penn-Delco Technology Expo on 1/26/12, Sun Valley Vanguard Wrestling Invitational on 1/28/12, and Sun Valley Science Fair on 1/31/12. All were unbelievable displays of the talents of our students and the hospitality of our teachers and staff that extends beyond the classroom. These events showcased all that we offer at Sun Valley prompting one student from another school to say during a competition "Is this a private school?". Kudos to all involved to make our extensions outside of the classroom such a success.

In January, we also secured Neumann University for graduation ceremonies. Neumann is now in their third year of hosting graduations and we felt it was time to bring graduation back to Penn-Delco. Graduation will be Tuesday, June 12th at 6:00pm. The facility has the same home town feel and warmth that the Penn-Delco community is accustomed to. It will enable our students to spend more time with family and friends on that monumental occasion due to the location. Look for more correspondence soon on the end of the year events.

The next few months will shape the year. We are half finished the school year. The second half of the year will feature Senior Mock Interviews, AP testing, PSSA testing, scheduling for 2012-2013, college commitments, dances, proms, plays, sporting events, and many other exciting times at The Valley.

Thank you for being a large component of your student's events and success.

Six-on-six basketball

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Six-on-six basketball or basquette is a largely archaic variant of women's basketball. It is played with the same rules as regular basketball, with the following exceptions:

1. Teams have six players each instead of five; three "forwards" and three "guards".
2. Only forwards are allowed to shoot the ball. Forwards must stay in their teams' frontcourt (the side of the court they shoot from) and guards must stay in their team's backcourt. For example, Team A's forwards would be on the left side of the court with Team B's guards on defense. Team B's forwards are on the right side of the court with Team A's guards. Thus, forwards play only offense and guards play only defense.
3. In some forms, unlimited dribbling is not allowed. Once in possession of the ball, players may dribble the ball up to two times; at that point, the player must shoot (if a forward) or pass to a teammate. Both forwards and guards may handle the ball.

Today, nearly all women's basketball leagues (pro, college, and high school) play by the same basic five-on-five rules (size of the ball and the distance of the three-point line are two of the few differences). In the United States, the last major sanctioning bodies were the high school state athletic organizations of Iowa and Oklahoma.

Last six-on-six games played

Beginning in 1958 the Office of Civil Rights started looking at banning six-on-six high school girls basketball.^[1] It would take 37 years to phase it out.
